Probation and Suspension Policy
Suspension Appeals Policy

Students suspended from the University of Wisconsin Oshkosh by recommendation of the College of Letters and Science Student Academic Committee [are] allowed to re-enter UW Oshkosh only after application to and approval by:

- The College of Letters and Science Student Academic Committee

or

- The Student Academic Affairs Officer for the College of Letters and Science.

Approved by COLS Faculty Committee, 20 January, 1987

Review of Probation/Suspension Status

At the end of each 14 week term, the following students' academic records are reviewed:

- Students who were previously on probation or re-entered from previous suspension
- Students with a cumulative grade point below 2.00
- Students with a semester grade point below 1.00
- Students who have not been making steady progress toward a degree, regardless of grade point (Progress Probation)

Depending upon the academic record, such students will be classified into one of the following:

- Good Standing Grade Point above 2.00
- Probation 1 First semester Cumulative Grade Point is below 2.00
- Probation 4
(Conditional Probation) Second consecutive semester that cumulative grade point is below 2.00. Student must meet with an advisor and contract to follow and complete a specific academic plan.
- Probation 5
(Suspension) 1. Third consecutive semester that cumulative grade point is below 2.00
OR
2. Semester grade point below 1.00 after a student's first freshman semester.

Student Appeals Policy

PREAMBLE

The evaluation or assessment of student performance leading to the assignment of the final course grade involves exercise of independent and professional judgment by individual college faculty and academic staff. The joint statement on Rights and Freedoms of Students (AAUP, October 1967) provides: "Students should have protection through an orderly process against prejudiced or capricious academic evaluation. At the same time, they are responsible for maintaining standards of academic performance established for each course in which they are enrolled." (AAUP Policy Documents and Reports, 1984 Edition, page 142)

POLICY

All students enrolled in the College of Letters and Science shall be afforded an opportunity to seek redress of perceived grievances concerning the assessment of student performance by faculty and academic staff. Recognizing that the evaluation of student performance is based upon the professional judgment of instructors, grievances will not be considered unless based upon one or more of the following factors:

- An error was made in grade computation
- The grade was based on factors contrary to those stated in the course syllabus or a reasonable interpretation of it
- The grade reflected, in whole or part, some penalty for actions involving the freedom of written or spoken classroom expression
- The grade involved some breach of federal or state constitutional protections, federal laws, Regents' Rules, or UW Oshkosh policies.

Approved by COLS Faculty Committee, 4 April, 1990

Student Grievance Procedures

PRELIMINARY PROCEDURES

- The student must attempt an informal resolution of the problem with the instructor no later than the 10th day of the next regular semester.
- If the informal process with the instructor does not resolve the problem, the student should communicate with the department chair[∨] within five working days. The chair may either attempt informal resolution of the problem within five working days or inform the student in writing of formal grievance policies within that same time limit.

FORMAL PROCEDURES

- Chair's Procedures
 - If the chair decides that an attempt at informal resolution is inappropriate or should that attempt be unsuccessful, the student may request a formal review of the matter by the department's grievance committee. This request must be received by the chair within five working days of the notification of the failure of the attempt at mediation. The student's request shall be in writing and shall include the nature of the grievance and its basis from the four factors listed under "Policy" (Under Students Appeals Policy), the attempt at informal resolution, the desired outcome that the student wishes, and all supporting evidence. The chair will, within five working days, inform the department's grievance committee that a grievance is to be reviewed, or, if there is no standing grievance committee, arrange for the formation of an ad hoc grievance committee.^σ
 - At the same time the chair will acknowledge the student's request and inform the instructor of it. If the instructor, upon seeing the petition, wishes to respond, this must be done within five working days.
 - Upon receipt of the response from the student and the instructor, the chair will convene the grievance committee within five working days and deliver to it all written documents concerning the case, including a written account of the chair's attempt at meditation, if any.
- Department Grievance Committee
 - The committee, with the chair as an observer, will review the materials presented. It may on its own initiative call for oral presentations to gather or clarify information, and it may make written inquiries of either or both the student and the instructor for the same purpose. Should further

[∨] Should the chair be involved in the grievance, the grievance petition will be filed with the Dean of the College, who will act in the role of the chair.

^σ An instructor involved in a grievance may not participate in any of the procedures of the department's grievance committee concerning the case.

evidence be presented to the committee each person will be given the opportunity to respond.

- Following its review of the evidence the committee will, on the basis of this evidence, render a formal recommendation and communicate that recommendation to the chair within 10 working days of the first meeting. The report will include the committee's findings of fact, its recommendation, and its rationale for the recommendation.
- The chair will render a decision within five working days of receipt of the committee's recommendation and inform those involved.
- Should the student reject the chair's decision or the instructor refuse a grade change at the departmental level, the student may continue the grievance with the Dean's Office of the College of Letters and Science within five working days after the notification.

- College of Letters and Science Action

- A member of the Dean's Office shall collect all relevant department-level material, and, within five working days of receipt of the material, inform the College of Letters and Science's Student Academic Committee of grievance.
- The Dean's Office shall forward to the Student Academic Committee all the documents in the case. The Dean's Office shall inform the student and the instructor of the action.
- The Student Academic Committee will make an independent review of all the documents in the case and, within 10 working days, render a written recommendation with a copy to the student, the instructor, and the Dean. The report will include the committee's rationale for its decision.[Ⓢ]
- The Dean will review the documents in the case, and in particular the findings, recommendations, and the rationale for these at each level of review, and will render a decision to the student and the instructor, indicating the reasons for it. Copies will be sent to the Student Academic Committee and the department chair. The Dean's decision will be considered final, with no appeal possible.

Conditions

- At all levels of review, the burden of proof will be on the student.
- The term "working days" shall refer to those days when classes are actually scheduled.
- All grievance petitions must be individually filed.

[Ⓢ] Should any member(s) of the Student Academic Committee be associated with the academic department from which the grievance originates, that (those) member(s) will be excused from any COLS-level proceedings.

Deadlines

These procedures are intended to give all parties to a grievance the opportunity to be heard fully, fairly and within reasonable time.

- At the discretion of the person or the committee administering a time deadline, an extension may be given under extenuating circumstances; such extensions will be announced to all persons involved.
- Should the student fail to meet a deadline or a reasonable extension of it, the case will be considered closed
- Should the instructor be out of residence or otherwise unavailable, a reasonable attempt will be made, and the time provided for this, to give notice of the grievance and receive such response as the instructor may wish to make. If, in the judgment of the person or the committee charged with making the attempt, the grievance procedure will be unreasonably delayed by the instructor's failure or inability to respond within a reasonable time, the grievance process may continue without such response.

Notes

If necessary, the committee will adopt its own internal procedures to cover situations not described above. Such procedures are circumscribed by federal or state constitutional protections, federal laws, state statutes, Regents' rules and UW Oshkosh policies.
