The committee evaluates and develops initiatives designed to reduce crime, address public complaints, and offer alternatives to incarceration.

Summer 2019: I prepared an Assessment Report of the Dignity Revolution Challenge to help their anti-bullying programs become evidence-based (per their request). As stated on their website (www.dignitypledge.com), Dignity Revolution provides bullying prevention programming and curriculum.

Spring 2018: Worked with Bryan Wright and his colleagues (Prevention and Youth Advocates at the Christine Ann Domestic Abuse Services) to improve the measuring instruments they use to evaluate the Winnebago Sexting Diversion Program.

Summer 2018: (With Dr. Matt Richie), An analysis of prostitution arrest data was provided to the Winnebago County District Attorney office. A presentation of these data was provided to the Winnebago County DA (Christian Gossett) and Makenzie Reinke (Assistant to the DA) during the summer of 2018.

Fall 2018: (With Dr. Matt Richie), I prepared an Assessment Report for the UWO Police Department and the Winnebago County District Attorney's Office for the UWO Drug Diversion Program.

Fall 2009 - Fall 2018: I organized and directed the Inviting Convicts to College Program (ICCP) at Oshkosh Correctional Institution until Spring 2019. I created this program when I was an Assistant Professor at UWO. It is a college preparatory program that is offered to inmates at Oshkosh Correctional Institution. CJ student interns (who I recruited for and mentored through the program) served as teachers in the ICCP. By including CJ students in this program, it provides an added bonus above and beyond the service to OCI (i.e., increasing their educational program offerings at no cost); it provides a unique experience for our CJ students, which can't be replicated in the classroom.

Fall 2015: Learning in Retirement Presentation: During the spring semester of 2015, I was asked by Nathalie Moore (organizer of Learning in Retirement sessions) if I would be willing to present and hour and a half course at Evergreen Retirement Community to residents and local community members (about 40 to 50 members) who belong to the Learning in Retirement group. I accepted, and on October 9th, 2015 I presented a course/topic on probability theory. I also presented a paper on eyewitness reliability as an illustration of how probability theory is applied in the social sciences. As part of this discussion, I also discussed the accuracy of eyewitness identification. I remain on a list of presenters for future courses/presentations.

Spring 2010 – 2013: Member of the Oshkosh Community Circles of Support (The Community Circles of Support enlist community volunteers to regularly meet with women and men who have recently been released from prison in an attempt to help them transition from prison to living back in the community).

Summer 2006: Guest Speaker at Oshkosh Correctional Institution: Invited to provide the commencement speech at the HSED/Vocational Graduation at Oshkosh Correctional Institution (June 20, 2006).
