CERTIFICATE IN MUSIC

This flexible, eleven-credit certificate program gives students the opportunity to acquire skills and knowledge suitable for enjoyable amateur music making and engagement with music as culture. Students will learn to read musical notation, understand basic music theory, acquire introductory music making skills, and gain knowledge and think critically about music as culture. The six credits of music electives give students the opportunity to tailor the certificate to their individual interests. Students may fulfill this requirement with any combination of music courses including private instrument lessons, ensemble experiences, USP music history and literature courses, music industry courses, music composition courses, and others. The Certificate in Music is open to any non-music major or non-music minor regardless of prior musical experience. An entry audition is not required to declare this certificate.

The 11-credit curriculum for a Certificate in Music includes the following courses:

One course selected from:	3 credits
Music 102 Theory of Music for the General Student (XC)
Music 155 Class Piano for Non-Music Majors (XC)
 Music 116 Introduction to Global Musics	 2 credits
 Music Electives	 6 credits ¹
